FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Saturday even-ing last the step daugheer of Mr. John Taylor, who resides near the outer rail-road depot, at Parkersburg, came to a coulden death by the secilental disroad depot, at Parkersburg, came to a suiden death by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Mr. Taylor. He had taken the gun in his nand for the purpose of cleaning it, when dropping something on the floor, the little girl stooped to pick up the article, while Mr. Taylor also reached for it. At this moment the gun slipped, and in catching it, the discharge took place, lodging the contents in the neck, face and head of the child, killing her instantly. She was one of five step instantly. She was one of five step children and only seven years old. The funeral took place yesterday after a Caroner's inquest was held, showing the killing to have been accidental.—

We are informed, by Mr. Paxton, one of the directors of the road, that the bids for the work on this road between Scarey and Big Sandy, were opened at Barboursville on the 9th inst. There were thirty bids for the work between Scarey and Barboursville. This shows that the people have confidence in the success of the road. The Barboursville section was let to Kizer & Co. One section in Wayne county was let to Plymale & Co. The remaining bids have been forwarded to Richmond, and will be acted upon there by the full board,

The work on the contracts let, will be commenced at once. We are rejoiced to see these evidences of activity on the part of those having the work in charge.

THE U. S. SENATORSHIP.

Hon. Daniel Polsley—What his Encomites any of Him.

From the Mason Ox. Journal—Democratic.
Our contemporary of the Register advocates the taking of the next U. S. Senator from this Congressional District, and presents the name of Hon. Daniel Polsley, of this place, as the proper person upon whom to confer the much conveted position. Of course, our party being largely in the minority in the next Legislature, there is no hope of electing a Democrat to that office, and consequently we are "out side of the ring" in the contest. We hope, however, that our political opponents will not consider us as "meddling with other people's business," when we say, that of all the names yet presented by the Kadical party for the position above named, none have greater claims upon it than Judge Folsiey. In point of ability and statesmanship help head and shoulders above all his Radical competitors, besides having the experience of two years in Congress. But aside from all this, as our contemporary suggests, the third Congressional districtions claims upon this office to which the other end can lay no claim whatever. It seems to be the settled policy of the Radicals in the other end of the State to entirely gioure this end in not only the distribution of the public buildings. Both Senators have been from the ist and 2nd districts of the State to entirely giour this end in not only the distribution, as well as a majority of the State forcation, as well as a majority of the State forcation, as Registers. buildings. Both Senators have been from the 1st and 2nd districts of the Siste since its creation, as well as a majority of the State officers. Parkersburg his had and still retains the third highest office in the gift of the State, that of Governor, and of the recently elected State offices only one is from this district. So long as it is a settled fact that a Democrat can not be elected for the office or United States Senator, we are for Judge Polsley, not that his political opinions are less obnoxious to us than any other Radical, but because we believe it due to this end of the State to have it represented at least one term in the United States Senate. A concession of this character by the Radicals of the 1st and 2nd districts would, to say the least, show a commendable apirit on their part and give less cause of complaint from both Democrats and Radicals, on account of the discrimination made against the 3rd district in the selection of officers and the location of public buildings.

NEW BOOKS. Greeley's Recollections.

We have received from C. F. Vent & Autobiography of Horace Greeley, or 'Recollections of a Busy Life," No "Recollections of a Busy Life." No man in the United States has more Impressed himself upon the age in which he lives than Horace Greeley. He is an eminent example of what integrity and industry will do for a man in this Republic; for if ever a man was truly the strictect of his own fortune it has been Mr. Greeley. Starting as a poor farmer's boy in New England, he entered New York a mere stripling, unknown to fame and without fortune, without a single acquaintance and with no resources save a half dozen dollars in his pocket, a small bundle containing his pocket, a small bundle containing his scanty wardrobe, and a knowledge of the typographic art picked up in a country printing office. Yet he was possessed of pure morals and undaunted essed of pure morals and undaunted energy and a mind of strong natural capacity, Beginning with these, governing and guiding his natural capacity. Reginning with these, governing and guiding his conduct by inflexible honesty and undiagging industry, he has won his way to both wealth and fame; and to day it is doubtful if any one man in the Republic wields so match influence for good as Horace Greeley, at the head of the great newspaper which is the glory and monument of his well spent life. The chapters in which Mr. Greeley tells the story of his stringgles and success were first written in numbers for the New York Ledger. They are now collected in an elegant octave volume, illustrated with the best steel portrait of the author ever published, and with beautiful engravings of his various homes, his farm, etc., together with a fine portrait of Margaret Faller, engraved by Linton. These pages write in that fresh, racy, inimitable style peculiar to Mr. Greeley, will be found of surpassing interest to every honest, untainted nature, old or young. Boys urpassing interest to every honest, intainted nature, old or young. Boys will find in it all the charm of a fascinting story, and at the same time tite and make themselves useful and upright men. To every parent we freely say, you can do your son no more substantial service than to place in his hands this volume of Mr. Greeley's "Recollections." Everything good and noble in his nature will be strengthened by reading it. Those of maturer years will find in Those of maturer years will find in the state of the part of the part of the township, and, as now we shall have a loard of supervisors, let each director life and make themselves useful and was to have assembled in Washington to place in his hands this volume the Everything good and the ture will be strengthened by reading it.

Those of maturer years will find in this volume much more than the mere history of a worthy and successful life; because it is at the same time in some sort a record of the times through which Mr. Greeley has lived and a discussion of the many great moral and political of the finds, county, State or township, and the with two ship officers that are needed. The half to constitute a quorum. The Treasurer collects the funds, county, State or township, one of the most important questions to Mr. Greeley has lived and a discussion sion will undoubtedly renew their for- questions that agitated American sociequestions that agitated American society during those times—questions with which the author was intimately connected and whose history is to some extent a part of his own. Mr. Greeley himself has said of it: "I shall never write any thing else into which I shall put so much of myself, my experiences, put so much of myself, my experiences, notions, convictions, and modes of give, with small reserve, my mental history." Taken all in all, it is the most notable work of the day, and one that deserves to be universally read. The book is sold only by subscription, and Messes. Vent & Co. are desirous of

This powerful company secured in the House of Delegates on Friday last a victory over the Constitution, as it appears to us, that we cannot but regret. The indefatigable efforts of the friends of the road have thus been partially successful. Their tactics in receding from what they originally claimed; agreeing to the various amendments favored by the original opponents of any change in the present law regarding assessments of property; the ingenuity which they manifested in getting up special pleas; dragging into their campaign such side issues as involve the general principle of internal improvements, and threatening the Great Kanawha Vailey and other sections wherein railroad enterprises are projected, at last carried the day in the House. The members seemed to have Kanawha Valley and other sections wherein railroad enterprises are projected, at last carried the day in the House. The members seemed to have overlooked or ignored the facts set forth in the opinions of Thayer Melvin, Esq., the Attorney General, and Messra, Stanton and Allison, Counsel in the test case now pending in Marshall county. These legal authorities claim that any change in the legal status of the State with reference to taxing railroads will endanger the settlement of the pending issue between the State and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, regarding the right to collect $100,000 of taxes alleged to be due to the State, counties, townships, school districts and municipal corporations of West Virginia. That suit will be decided by the Court of Appeals which sits next month. On the 10th of January, the Legislature will re-assemble. What need was there for any immediate change in the law, under these circumstances?

Court of Appeals which sits next month. On the life horrid deed, she said her will re-assemble. What need was there for any immediate change in the law, under these circumstances? We cannot see the necessity or the wisdom of any action in the matter at present, and we are giad to be able to record the fact that Mr. Steere, one of our Representatives, made the most determined and able opposition throughout to any change in the law, while Mr. Dils also opposed and voted against it to the last. As the bill goes to the Senste, the Townships, School Districts and Municipal corporations are shorne of their right to assess railroad property. This is especially absurd when the facts are considered regarding the assessment of school tax. The employees of railroads uniformly average an undue proportion of floating, or non-property holding citizens, whose children have to be provided with education. So glaring is this fact that it was proposed in the House some time since to tax railroads for school purposes more than other owners of property. Now by this vote of the House, railroad property is to be exempt from school tax. But this is only a single item of inconsistency. The entire bill, though greatly modified from the orignal, is a surrend of principle and a concession to monopoly. We rely upon the Senate giving it the cold shoulder.

A CHAPTER OF HORRORS IN TEN-NESSEE.

NASHVILLE, December 21. In Pulaski, on Saturday night, a body of disguised men broke open the land, and taking out a negro named Aleck Mason, riddled his body with bullets. They first tried to lynch him, but Mason being a powerful man, and offering resistance, they used their pistols and in a moment he was a corpse. The negro had been placed in iail for tols and in a moment he was a corpse. The negro had been placed in jail for robbing a negro firm in Pulaski, on Thursday night, of over $1,000. He bore the reputation of being a desperate character, and had been repeatedly in prison for high-handed depredations. His sudden taking off, however, is severely consured, as in itself a piece of outlawry.

She was subsequently arrested, and when asked why see committed the horrid deed, she said her children would not obey her, and so she concluded to kill them.
